THE TRANSFORMED CLAY

BY REV. EDWIN WHITTIER CAWELL.
Pottery, one of the most ancient arts and one of the best preserved articles in buried cities, reveals the progress of civilization in early times. The daily life of the Egyptians, the Chinese, the American Indian and other pagan peoples, is found written on their pottery utensils. There are the cylindrical jars, grist mills, cooking ranges, granary bins, roofing tiles and a great variety of other useful and ornamental pieces of pottery and porcelain.

Among the many references to the potter's tool found in the Bible, are "There were the potters that dwelt with the king for his work." "We are the clay and thou our potter." "Hath not the potter power over the clay?" "Then I went down to potter's house and behold he wrought a work on wheels, and the vessel that he made of clay was marred in the hands of the potter; so he made it again, another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it." "The prophet Jeremiah in this object lesson was taught that Israel was in the hands of God, as clay in the moulding hands of the potter; that, if they yielded to His will, He would make them vessels of honor, meet for the Master's use, and if they become marred or broken in the making by their resistance or doubt, he would not take a new lump of clay discarding the broken pieces, but he would gather up the fragments, put them on the wheel again, and mould them over into another vessel.

What a picture of the patience, the mercy and the loving-kindness of the Divine Potter is here revealed. "He made it again." For him who is willing to be restored to the former image and likeness of God

We are not like the clay, passive in the hands of the potter, but have the power to mar or break the masterpiece of the great Artist, and we have the power of self-surrender for restoration to our former glory.

When the Creator saw his own image first moulded into manhood, he exclaimed, "It is very good." He did his best. He looked upon the climax of his creative genius only to see man broken by temptation and sin, lying in ruins. Then God called upon his only Son to redeem and re-fashion us like himself.

In the process of transformation we notice that we are held in the hollow of His hand. No other can mould us, no human mechanism can shape us. Only the Divine touch can give the fashionable beauty. There are those who seem to mind themselves, depending upon education, culture, and refinement, but their efforts are fruitless without Almighty Skill. The Divine Artist has an idea for each individual piece of pottery, just as no two vessels are alike in form, figure or ornamentation in the potter's workshop, so the great God gives a distinctive individuality to every soul. One great element of beauty is in variety. The potter realizes that ornamentation is a slower process than moulding; so it is with character. God puts in the colors of love, joy, peace, gentleness, kindness and charity, and when the artist's work is complete, he places us in the fire of un-speakable burning, that His work may abide forever. The soul is purified and beautified by this baptism of flame, and comes forth from the furnace of affliction dried, fixed, perfected, to shine in the temple of God forever. The seven colors of the Divine light have been burned into the fabric of human life, producing a being fitted for the joy of saints, of angels and of Almighty God throughout an eternity of existence.

While the writer was passing his summer vacation in Middletown, Delaware, he called one evening at the home of a friend who has become quite skilled in decorating a variety of beautiful porcelain specimens. He was charmed with the exquisite designs of various flowers, forms and figures. But the artistic workmanship would have been useless if it had passed through the fire. But now these roses, buttercups, apple blossoms and lilies can never be rubbed out by the ravages of time.

How many, as they complain of the firing process of affliction, fail to realize that the Artist, after shaping a human soul for eternity, and adorning it with the beauty of truth and holiness, is making the colors indeleble by momentary burnings.

Not until we reach the King's palace and behold the niche in His temple which we His finished workmanship shall occupy, and begin to realize the perfection of His art, will we appreciate the vast difference between the shapeless clay and the mystery and glory of a soul in the Creator's image. Not till then will we know how the whirling wheels and the flaming fire become factors in our complete transformation.

In a beautiful poem by Henry Weston Front illustrates our thought.

"At last the stir of the wheel was still
And the work of the potter was done,
Then the vessel was placed on the outer soil.

In the light of the summer sun;
And there the dull clay of the cellar cold,
Stood a beautiful vase, all bathed with gold.

The King called the potter and asked his

He paid what was asked, and 'en more

Then he hid his treasure of rich device

In his bono and thus he bore

The vase to the palace--thus coaxed the

The joy of his heart and delight of his eyes.

And now, if you seek for the cold, dull clay,

You must pass the old cellar by,

And go up the hill, by the king's highway.

"Neath the light of the sunlit sky,

Till you reach the palace, the king's fair home;

Yea, there you will find it, besides the throne."

Overcome by the Heat

About two o'clock Tuesday afternoon while digging a well on the premises of the Middletown Hotel Mr. George Cole, a strong, big young man of about 30, was overcome by the heat that he became unconscious. Assistance came to him, and the unfortunate worker was taken to his home where the doctor at several hours work finally brought him to consciousness again.

No doubt the direct rays of the hot sun, the hard work and the total want of air were too much for Mr. Cole. He is, we are glad to say, now mending.

A FAR-OFF TREAT

Some of the relatives and friends of Mr. Edward W. Lockwood, who a few weeks ago was on here from his Vancouver B. C. home visiting his sister, Miss Ada L. Lockwood, were given a unique social reception. Through his cousin Mr. William Lockwood and several ladies, Mr. Edward W. Lockwood gave an ice cream treat to these friends at the newly opened ice cream parlors of Miss Ada Lockwood on West Main street.

The guests thoroughly enjoyed the hospitality of their far away host, and spent an agreeable hour or so over their cream and in social discourse. They all voted the novel entertainment a big success.

Those present were Miss Ada Lockwood, Mrs. G. O. W. Lockwood, Miss Blanche Lockwood, Mrs. Helen Milne, Mrs. John C. Green, Miss Elizabeth Lindley, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Birr, Mrs. Edward M. Vaughan and his son Henry, Miss Ida V. Howell, Miss Emma Kelley, Mr. G. Kelly, Mrs. Henry R. Beeson, Mrs. Albert C. Hoefcker, Messrs. William Lockwood, Harry Lockwood, and W. E. Wright, of Middletown; Mrs. Joshua M. Arthur and his grandchild Irene, Majorie M. Virdin and F. Allen Virdin, of Wilmington.

Mr. Moody's Funeral

On Tuesday morning upon the arrival of the 9:30 train, Mr. William H. Wilson, received the body of Mr. Martin Moody late of Wilmington and whose sad death there so greatly shocked his many friends in this community.

The remains were followed by a number of carriages to Forest Cemetery where interment was to be made. Four of Mr. Moody's cousins Messrs. Richard A. Cochran, Robert A. Cochran, Julian Cochran and Charles P. Cochran, with Mr. George Echenhofer and Mr. Nathaniel Williams acted as pall-bearers.

Rev. William H. Hutchins conducted the funeral services at the grave.

Mr. Moody was highly esteemed by all here where he had long lived, and the tragic closing in his 73d year of his kindly useful life, is a deep grief to his many friends.

Entertained Her Little Friends

Little Miss Laura Fogel entertained a number of her friends at her home on Green Street last Friday from five until eight o'clock. The guests were, Marion, Frances and Catherine Armstrong Townsend, Percy and Katherine Townsend, Perry, Edwin and Charlotte Daughay, Katherine Alexander, Helen McWhorter, Emma Beale, H. J. Ettinger, Schroeder, Roger and Caroline Fourcade, Priele Kelley, Leon and Milton Liman, Catherine Goodhand and Franklin Plummer. Luncheon of lettuce and egg salad, olives, pickles, ice cream and fancy cakes, etc., were served with directions for use, are free upon request.

Mr. Samuel Eaton entertained the past week Eugene Thomas, wife, and daughter Miss Lucille, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Thomas and daughter, Miss Gertrude, of Burlington, N. J.

It is expected that Mr. John D. Lindsey, of Odessa, will preach in the Presbyterian church on Sunday and continue the work during the summer. Mr. Lindsey preached here two summers ago, and we are glad to have him in our midst again and hope the services will be well attended to show our appreciation.

Friday evening last a party of about thirty of our town people took a trip in a large touring car to Shelltop Park. After spending the evening dancing and enjoying sights of the park, the party returned about 1 A. M. delighted with their trip and full of expectations of a trip to Brandywine Springs in the near future.
